Important information related to copyrights and credits.

USGS-authored or produced data and information are considered to be in the U.S. Public Domain. While the content of most USGS websites is in the U.S. Public Domain, not all information, illustrations, or photographs on our site are. Some non-USGS photographs, images, and/or graphics that appear on USGS websites are used by the USGS with permission from the copyright holder (as required by USGS policy on the use of copyrighted material). These materials are generally marked as being copyrighted. To use these copyrighted materials, you must obtain permission from the copyright holder under copyright law.

For any content or multimedia containing USGS personnel or staff, and regardless of the license applied, their likeness, or voice, the person may have publicity rights. For commercial use of that multimedia, permission may be required.

When using information from USGS information products, publications, or websites, we ask that proper credit be given. Credit can be provided by including a citation such as the following:

component of the visual identity system is the USGS identifier. This identifier is trademarked and must be used in accordance with the rules outlined in the Visual Identity System. Information on who may use the USGS identifier and how to obtain a copy of it is available at Use of the Trademarked USGS Identifier by Non-USGS Organizations.

For relevant USGS policy on the Visual Identity System, refer to the Survey Manual chapter entitled, "USGS Visual Identity System."
